

CITNE gets Rs 35 cr grant

A co-founder of various IT and media companies, Srini Raju has announced a grant of Rs 35 crore to the Centre for IT and Networked Economy (CITNE) at the Indian School of Business (ISB). Just two-year old, CITNE is emerging as a global research hub in the focused areas ranging from 'optimal governance models of outsourcing relationships' to 'improving the efficacy of competency development initiatives by the IT majors' to measuring the socio-economic impact of ICT investments in rural India. It facilitates collaboration between ISB resident and visiting faculty and from the Indian IT industry.
