

Prof. Trivedi Appointed on a Panel to Improve US Government Performance

On August 28, 2017, Prof. Prajapati Trivedi was appointed as a member of the Project Panel to prepare a White Paper on use of data and analytics to improve organizational health and performance within government agencies. This White Paper has been commissioned by the Office of Management and Budget \(OMB\), the department leading the US President's government-wide management reform effort. This Project Panel was appointed by the Standing Panel on Executive Organization and Management of the National Academy of Public Administration \(NAPA\).

The National Academy of Public Administration (the Academy) is an independent, non-profit, and non-partisan organization established in 1967 to assist government leaders in building more effective, efficient, accountable, and transparent organizations. Chartered by the US Congress to provide non-partisan expert advice, the Academy's unique feature is its 800+ Fellows--including former cabinet officers, Members of Congress, governors, mayors, and state legislators, as well as prominent scholars, business executives, and public administrators. The Academy helps the US Federal government address its critical management challenges through in-depth studies and analyses, advisory services and technical assistance, Congressional testimony, forums and conferences, and online stakeholder engagement.
