Ashima Sood is Fellow, Centre for Learning and Management Practice at ISB. Ashima heads research dissemination initiatives at CLMP. She develops and delivers focused writing training for researchers at ISB, and facilitates the wider translation and dissemination of research outputs generated by ISB faculty, centres and institutes. Ashima is editor of ISBinsight, ISB’s flagship research publication, and of ISBInsight Management Briefs.

She brings impressive credentials to this role (PhD (Economics) from Cornell University and MA (English) from the University of California), as well as pertinent editorial experience (Editor of Economic and Political Weekly and EPW Review of Urban Affairs). Further, she has received fellowships and competitive research grants from the Centre de Science Humaines, and the Azim Premji University Foundation, among others.