WEI organises an interaction with Devaki Jain: The Women's Excellence Initiative (WEI) at the Indian School of Business (ISB) organised an interaction with Devaki Jain, economist, Padma Bhushan awardee and author of the book 'Close encounters of another kind' and Pratima Rao Gluckman, who has authored the book 'Nevertheless, She persisted – true stories of women leaders in tech', on Thursday. The 85-year-old Jain, whose research on the labour participation rate of women is considered an important contribution in economics, said "I don't see feminism as anti-men but as a philosophy that talks about rights and justice that go beyond gender."
